Weekly Project/Theme

Week 1- Hand Ball Havoc

One of the oldest of ball games, handball has been traced back to the baths of Rome. Played later as a bare-handed game called pelota in Spain and France, it was the forerunner of modern jai alai. Handball was adapted in the British Isles during the 16th century and called fives.

The Children loves and enjoys the game and creates their own tournament.

Week 2- Magical Mandala

They're used to focus the mind in meditation, teach people in religious training, and guide a meditating person to spiritual healing and enlightenment. The first mandalas appeared around the first century B.C.E. and spread throughout Asia with Buddhist monks who traveled the Silk Road.
